TALK OF VICE PRESIDENCY
Canvases of State Delegations Shows Strong Roosevelt Following.
MICHIGAN WANTS ROUGH RIDER TO WAIT
Room of Dulliver is Progressing in Satisfactory Manner, While Long's Candidacy is of Tentative Nature.

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—The Pennsylvania delegation met this afternoon and unanimously re-elected Colonel M. S. Quay national committeeman. Colonel Quay presided and he was also made chairman of the delegation.
On motion of Senator Penrose the delegation was pledged to McKinley. Chairman Quay said this was scarcely necessary, but he put the motion as a matter of form. Senator Penrose then moved that the delegation be instructed for Roosevelt for vice president. State Senator C. L. Magee (anti-Quay) asked for a roll call. Congressman M. S. Williams inquired whether Roosevelt would accept if endorsed. Senator Penrose said: "I can assure the gentleman and other delegates that Governor Roosevelt will accept if the nomination is tendered to him."
The committee of Pittsburgh (anti-Quay) thought it rather early to tie up the delegation.
To this suggestion Chairman Quay replied that there was nothing binding in the motion; that it merely showed the preference of the delegation.
The roll was then called, resulting: Roosevelt, 2; Root, 1; Long, 1; Bliss, 1; excluded from voting, 7, absent 2.

Canvases of Long's Strength.
The subcommittees appointed by the Massachusetts delegation to canvass all the states in the interest of Secretary Long for the vice presidency made their reports this afternoon. The committee reported that every state in that section will vote solidly for Mr. Long. The reports from nearly all the southern states were to the effect in general that the delegates from that section will vote for the man who is acceptable to the administration. The Cook county delegates of Illinois, as well as some of the delegates from the state, lean toward Dulliver, as do also the delegates from Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska. The Pacific states, the committees learned, will vote for the far western candidates in the field, while the sentiment among the northern states, east of the Mississippi, is strong for a New York man, provided the Empire state delegation can unite on a candidate. Most of the subcommittee reports of the secretary of Long was very strong as a second choice.

Committee delegated to get into communication with Mr. Long for the purpose of learning his wishes regarding any further movement in his behalf, reported that the secretary of the party let the matter in the hands of the delegation. He had no preference as to who should place him in nomination, or who should second it. It is the desire of the delegation that Senator Lodge have the honor of naming him. The Nebraska delegates discussed the vice presidential question this afternoon and decided to express no preference. C. Irman Gurley said Roosevelt was the strongest eastern candidate, but Nebraska had hoped a western man would be selected.

Roosevelt's Message to Kansas.
Great interest centered at the Kansas headquarters early in the day, as Governor Roosevelt had promised to pay a visit to the delegates, and it was thought he would say something in his candidacy. The governor could not come, however, and sent General Francis V. Green, who served conspicuously in the Philippine Islands, as his representative for the vice presidency, to take his place. General Green made a speech which was regarded as significant, as he came direct from Governor Roosevelt and expressed his views. After being introduced by Chairman Penrose, the governor asked me to say that he regretted his inability to be with you. He asks to be excused, as he is just now engaged in an important consultation. From all directions the delegates called on the governor, and it is far from him to say. Speaking for myself, I will say that we want him to remain governor of New York. As vice president he would preside over the senate, and only in that contingency which would allow an opportunity for the death of the president, would he be called on to exercise the larger functions for which he is so well fitted. He will be re-elected governor of New York, we have no doubt as to that. For that reason he sincerely hopes that he will be able to resign his New York and there continue the work he has taken up without being called to the vice presidency.

General Green then referred to the remarkable and historic tribute now being paid to President McKinley, and to the sentiment without a shadow of dissent. Then referring to Mr. Roosevelt, he said: "Undoubtedly Governor Roosevelt would be the unanimous choice if he permitted the use of his name. But he can do a great deal more for the republican party as governor of New York. No one can tell who will be nominated on Thursday, but if it should come about that any other of New York's worthy sons is presented to the convention, we would hope that Kansas would give him the same hearty support it has given to Governor Roosevelt."
Chairman Burton, answering for the delegation, said they were all heartily desirous of having the vice presidency so shaped as to bring strength and this Kansas would join with New York in the support of the man who would be the best interests of the republican party, as that was paramount to all other considerations.
Mr. Burton afterward summed up the feeling by stating that if Roosevelt would stand he would have the solid vote of the delegation. If he was out, Dulliver would probably be the favorite.

The Kansas contest for national committeeman is sharp and significant, as D. W. Mulvane, who hopes to succeed Cyrus Land, Jr., of the republican party, is the candidate for the United States senate.
Kentucky Names Bradley.
Governor Taylor and Governor Bradley are the two central figures of the Kentucky delegation, which has quarters at the Continental. The delegation is augmented by the McKinley club of Louisville, with a big band, which keeps things lively. Delegates W. P. Ross summed up the feeling thus:
"Kentucky wants to compliment Governor Bradley by having his name considered for the vice presidency. After that the sentiment is strongest for Roosevelt if he will accept. If not, definite choice among the other candidates."
Governor Taylor is accompanied by his wife and the two keep to their rooms much of the time. Members of the party say the Kentucky authorities who hold a warrant for the arrest of Governor Taylor from the state to state, but no fear is expressed that the matter will be brought up while he is here. The governor himself told his friends he had not been annoyed on the trip here.

Illinois is holding off their meeting until the delegates are all here and the sentiment has become clearer.
The Illinois people are holding off their meeting until the delegates are all here and the sentiment has become clearer.

about the headquarters there appeared to be considerable Dulliver sentiment.
Congressman Lorimer of Chicago, said: "I have no conference with the delegates, but those with our party like Dulliver."
"Suppose Roosevelt stands?" he was asked.
"While Dulliver is a candidate I will be voting for him," he replied.
Governor Wells says the Utah delegation expected to support Bartlett, Tripp for vice president, but the Roosevelt movement has caused a change of plans, so that if New York unites on Roosevelt Utah will be solid for him. After that Utah will be for Tripp, O. J. Salisbury, who appears to be leaning toward Dulliver, is believed to be national committeeman, was a Bryan man in the last campaign, along with Senator Cannon of Utah and Editor Pat Lannan, but he and Lannan are back with their old associates.

Tennessee Springs Candidate.
Tennessee has a vice presidential candidate, Senator Pritchard of North Carolina, Congressman Brownell said:
"Senator Pritchard will have the Tennessee delegation if his name is presented, which I think will be done. We were in a hurry to confer with Pritchard and use of a printer in my town. After that things are too much mixed to tell where Tennessee will go."
Delegate H. T. Porter says the attitude of the California delegation is one of acquiescence with the administration on the vice presidency and beyond that there is no definite understanding as to any particular candidate.

Roosevelt Second to Fairbanks.
Senator Fairbanks presided at the meeting of the Indiana delegation today and was chosen chairman, but no statement was made as to his vice presidential intentions, although the senator continues to tell all inquirers that he is not a candidate. Colonel Charles L. Jewett, who was chosen as the member of the committee on permanent organization, was formerly chairman of the democratic state committee of Indiana. The Indiana sentiment was expressed by Delegate George P. Hayward, as follows:
"If Fairbanks would permit the use of his name he would have the strength of Indiana and it would be a powerful assistance to us in Indiana. Roosevelt is probably next in favor, but the delegation has not been polled."
Colonel Durbin's nomination as governor requires his place to be filled on the national committee. The Indiana sentiment was expressed by Delegate George P. Hayward, as follows:
"If Fairbanks would permit the use of his name he would have the strength of Indiana and it would be a powerful assistance to us in Indiana. Roosevelt is probably next in favor, but the delegation has not been polled."

New Jersey Names Griggs.
"Four years ago New Jersey presented the country with a sterling vice presidential candidate, Garret A. Hobart," said Congressman Loudenslager of that state. "We have no candidate now, but we have another man fully up to the requirements if the necessity arises. What's the matter with the name of Griggs, attorney general of the United States and former governor of New Jersey?"
However there is no present plan to present General Griggs' name.
Ohio—The Ohio senators, Hanna and Foraker, were centers of interest and confidence all day. Senator Foraker and Cornelius N. Bliss were the guests of honor at a noon luncheon at the Union League club, Senator Scott and Congressman Sereno Payne and Grosvenor being among the other guests. The Ohio delegation will not be polled until tomorrow morning, when the organization will be perfected and some definite signs from those high in authority may be expected.
Virginia organized during the day. As to the vice presidency, Delegate Morgan said, United States marshal, said: "I will give Senator Scott a complimentary vote if his name is presented. There is no concerted action after that. Roosevelt has friends among us, but there is no stampede for him."

While the West Virginia delegation was meeting today Mr. Dulliver called and was cordially received. He is a native of West Virginia. He was assured of the friendly sentiments entertained for him, for while the state will first compliment one of its senators with a vote it will afterward give him some support. The sentiment is not solid, however, as considerable Roosevelt feeling has developed. Senator Scott wants Mr. Elkins' name presented.
The Colorado delegation is somewhat divided, Chairman Plympton, Senator Hawley and Chairman Plympton were about the Dulliver headquarters today, conferring with Governor Shaw of Iowa, but Mr. Plympton expressed the personal conviction the convention would stampede for Roosevelt.

Status of Dulliver's Room.
Governor Shaw summed up the status of the Dulliver movement as follows: "Dulliver is gaining every minute and we believe he will be the nominee. We concede that Roosevelt, Bliss or Allison would have superior strength, but these gentlemen say they are not candidates and we accept that as meaning just what the words state. So with these strong names eliminated, Dulliver is in to stay and is sure to command splendid support from all localities."
Senator Wolcott, who was elected chairman and the national committeeman at the meeting of the Colorado delegation, said not a word was said as to the vice presidency.
"There is very friendly sentiment for Mr. Roosevelt and for Senator Fairbanks," said Mr. Wolcott, "and we go into the convention absolutely unpledged."

Kerens Wins in Missouri.
The expected contest against National Committeeman Kerens did not materialize in the Missouri delegation and he was re-elected without a dissenting vote. The sentiment is strong for Roosevelt for vice president.
Roosevelt and Michigan.
The tabling of the Roosevelt resolution was the event of the day in the Michigan delegation, although this was construed by those opposing the resolution as favorable to Roosevelt's ultimate welfare. Delegate Robertson precipitated the issue by offering a resolution favorable to Roosevelt. It was opposed successfully by Colonel Hecker and others, on the ground that such action would be a violation of the constitution's prohibition against the re-construction of this action. D. M. Ferry, the republican candidate for governor, and W. H. Elliott, the new national committeeman from Michigan, were designated as a committee to explain the situation to Mr. Roosevelt. They told him the Michigan delegates felt that his acceptance of the vice presidency would stand in the way of his choice for the presidency four years hence, and that they would not support him if he accepted the vice presidential resolution was accordingly tabled as adverse to his interests.

Governor Roosevelt expressed himself pleased with what had been done and said he hoped other delegations would do the same.
A report that Florida's delegates had been instructed for Lieutenant Governor Woodruff was emphatically denied today by H. S. Chubb, vice president of the delegation.
"We are uninterested," said he, "and we feel it our duty to ascertain the wishes of the administration leaders, whose opinions are for vice president under any circumstances. If we are not satisfied with the administration we will support Roosevelt."
Joseph E. Lee was elected chairman of the delegation and John E. Long was chosen for the national committee.

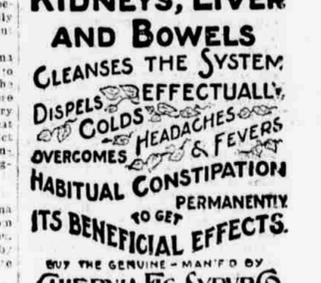

The delegates from Montana held their caucus tonight and selected Senator Carter as chairman of the delegation. Hon. William H. Dewitt was elected national committeeman to succeed Charles P. Leonard. When Senator Carter was asked whom the delegation would support for vice president he said:
"The delegation came to Philadelphia wholly uncommitted as to the presidential and vice presidential candidates and the delegates have held no conference for the purpose of coming to any about it. I believe that the Montana men will support Scott for the vice presidency."
Much Interest in New York.
The meeting of the New York delegation was a sort of magnet and the corridors in front of the rooms were so crowded at 8 o'clock that the local police had to be called on to make a passage way for the New Yorkers. Not more than half the delegates were present at 8 o'clock. The aim of the delegates seemed to be to get a sight of Governor Roosevelt, for when he came through the corridors there was a burst of applause. A policeman assisted him through and shortly after Senator Dewey got a similar ovation. The meeting was opened by Delegate Charles H. Murray of New York, who moved that Hon. Chauncey M. Depew be selected as chairman. This selection was unanimous and Mr. Depew took the chair. John W. Dwight was named as secretary and then Mr. Platt was selected to be the chairman of the delegation. National Committeeman James E. Boyd was re-elected and the usual selections for committees made. In ten minutes the meeting had adjourned until tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock without any mention of vice presidential candidates. Governor Roosevelt said that his grandfather was an American and that he was glad to be allowed to sit in a national convention.
The committee adjourned sine die.

will be William Astor Chanler of New York. He is very popular and was elected to congress from a district that was almost republican. He has a clear record. He raised and equipped a regiment in the last war, he has the means, he is popular and he would add great strength to the ticket. I do not believe any man will be nominated who has occupied such an advanced position on silver as A. J. Warner of Ohio."

National Committee Admits Delegates from Alaska and Hawaii.
PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—The national republican committee has again decided to refer the principal contests in the state of Alabama to the convention, to be in October, by the committee on credentials. The leaders thought Saturday that they had succeeded in securing an agreement of elimination of the office-holders and seating of an equal number of men from the two delegations to make full representation from the state. Obstacles were, however, found in the way of this proceeding in a large part of the state and when the matter was taken up in the committee today that body decided to put none of the delegates from the state at-large on from the Third and Fifth districts on the temporary roll.

Aside from the Alabama contest the most important matter which came before the committee at today's meeting was the resignation of Colonel Swarts as sergeant-at-large of the committee. The colonel has held this position for twelve years. The delegates from Alaska, John E. Held and W. E. D. Grant, were admitted to seats, as were those from Hawaii, Colonel Samuel Parker and A. N. Kepolohi. Colonel Parker said that his grandfather was an American and that he was glad to be allowed to sit in a national convention.
The committee adjourned sine die.
